Good Afternoon Jo,

The following information is in the agent services agreement concerning audits and the inspection of documents.

Under 6.0 Record Retention: "These records must be retained for three (3) years at the authorized place of business and be made available for inspection by law enforcement or an authorized representative of the Department."

We also have the following information under 9.0 Audits: 9.1 The Department reserves the right to make unannounced visits to audit, observe and inspect Provider's agent service operations. Temporary registration plates and related documents shall be available for inspection, with or without notice, by authorized Commonwealth employees or designees, including law enforcement officers or officials.

There is also a violation listed in the agent agreement:

1. The Provider has failed to allow inspection of documents or plates in the possession of the agent service by authorized Common-wealth employees or law enforcement — first violation.

Certificate of Authorization suspended until the documents, plates, or both, are made available, plus one (1) month.

Per the Agent Services Agreement, agents need to allow for inspection of the documents or plates in their possession by authorized Commonwealth employees or law enforcement.
